Studio's Philosophy

Studio Indigene looks at objects of varied scale and functionality; objects of decor and daily use. The forms are minimally designed yet aspire to form an identity. All the designs incline toward achieving clean lines and curves, with a keen experimentation of volumetric configuration and combining one or two materials with a base material, our favourite - wood.

Our designs are realised by the skillful handcrafting of our woodworkers, who are usually accustomed to traditional wood carving. They sit down with us to understand the designs we visualise. Together we devise techniques that utilise their skillset, at times challenge them even, to transfigure our designs on paper to objects in real life. The finishing of our products is also paid special attention to - the natural grain of the wood is retained. Each product is singular, in the realest sense, at our studio.

The designs aspire to become the centre of attention in a space, while being versatile to fit into a variety of settings and design styles. The play of volume in the wooden forms, carved out in pleasing proportions, highlight the wooden grains along their planes.

In the process of production, each piece is intently worked on, the crafting of wood, the assembly of all parts to make a whole - this is no less than creating a work of art. Each piece has a lasting impression on us as creators, and we hope that this translates into the user's experience - for one's hands to feel the beauty of what another's hands have created.

Sammukhin

reclaimed teak
wood, brass

3' width x 5' height x
7" projection

*furniture/
wall mirror*

Sammukhin / सम्मुखनि, speaks of grandiose but is minimal; speaks of pleasing proportions while reflecting your singular grace.

The mirror, handcrafted from reclaimed teak wood, can be wall-hung or leaned against the wall. A small shelf holds your daily grooming accessories.

Stak

reclaimed teak
wood, stainless steel

12" diameter x 25" height

*furniture/
side table*

Stak makes a statement in your space as an accent table or a side table, not compromising functionality, with its differently sized layered plates holding objects as you would like. The minimal form of the Stak side table renders it a timeless quality.

Si FO1

Vanta

reclaimed teak
wood, MDF

11" diameter x 22" height

*furniture/
side table*

The Vanta is a quaint side table, sleek in its form. A round top in reclaimed teak wood sits on a skilfully handcrafted base, in a contrasting black. Vanta, tucked beside an armchair or on your bedside, will graciously hold your warm coffee mug, a couple of your favourite reads, and a snack. Vanta becomes the perfect companion in your slow peaceful hours.

Nuit

reclaimed teak
wood, stainless steel

8" diameter x 11" height

*lighting/
table lamp*

Echoing the archetypical form of a table lamp, Nuit sits in corners with a soft glow - a companion in your slow peaceful hours.

Turned in teak wood, Nuit's distinct silhouette allows the natural textures of wood to take centre stage - the aesthetic of the lamp is honest to its form and material.

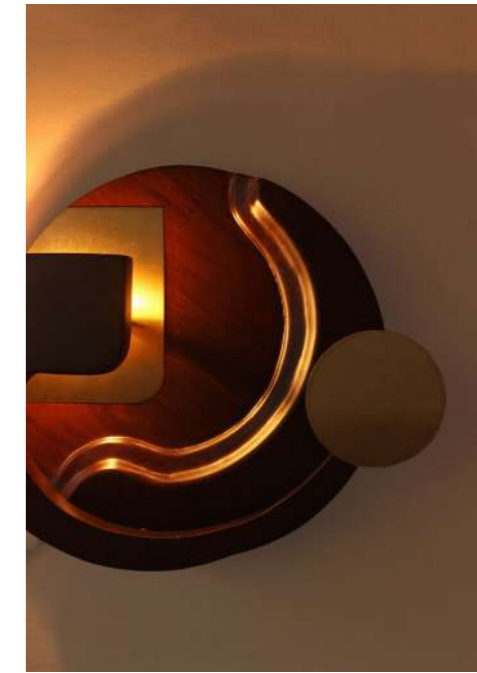

Si W02

Traya

reclaimed teak
wood, brass

12" diameter x 4" depth
(each piece)

wall lights*

Traya, a 3-piece wall mural with lights, is a fluid abstract composition, played out in 3 circles, and softly illuminates off the wall.

Si L25

Indu

reclaimed teak
wood, brass

10.5" length x 9.5" width x
6.5" height

table lamp*

Indu, waxing and waning; goes from a table lamp to a night lamp, the moving brass shade modulating the mood. When lit, the unshaded globe throws an ambient warm light. As the brass shade is rotated it covers the lit globe. The warm light becomes softer, bouncing off the brass, illuminating with a subtle golden glow.

Si L26

Vihaan

reclaimed teak
wood, brass

5.5" length x 5.5" width x
6.75" height

*lighting/
table lamp*

A product of our experiments with indirect light, Vihaan radiates a golden glow, setting a subtle mood in the space - goes best on your night stands.
