Kitchen Planning

Kitchen Zoning

As kitchens cater to a variety of users, zoning them makes working easier and organising it simpler. A kitchen comprises three major zones - The Cooking Zone, The Cleaning Zone, and The Storage Zone. Together, they form the Kitchen Work Triangle.

1 Cleaning Zone

2 Storage Zone

3 Cooking Zone

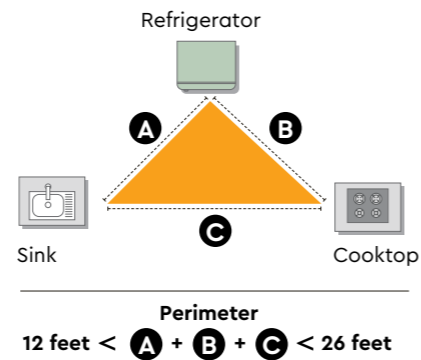

The Kitchen Work Triangle

The primary tasks in a home kitchen are carried out between the cooktop, the sink, and the refrigerator. These three points, and the imaginary lines connecting them, make up the Kitchen Work Triangle.

By ensuring that these three elements are close (but not too close) to one another, the Kitchen Work Triangle cuts down on wasted steps and makes the kitchen easy and efficient to use.

The 26 Feet Rule

For maximum efficiency, the perimeter of the Work Triangle has to be 12 feet minimum, and 26 feet maximum.

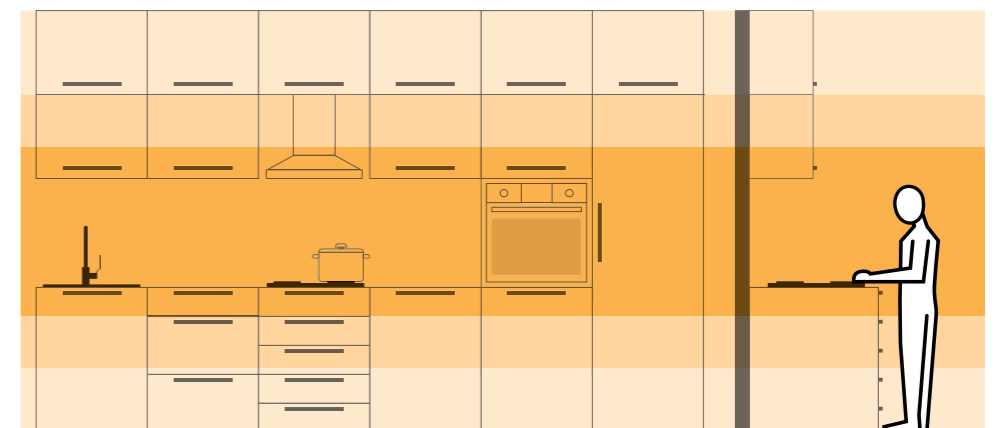

Functional Planning

By strategically allocating specific sections for specific kitchen needs, Godrej Interio is able to conceptualise kitchen designs that optimally utilise your kitchen space.

Ergonomic Planning

Godrej Interio has spent years studying the ergonomics of kitchens, the anthropometry of Indian users, and their cooking habits. Our kitchen designs use our learnings to create comprehensive solutions for all your kitchen problems. Be it storage planning, ergonomic sequences, optimal routes, or cleverly designed fittings to make the best use of your space.
